23rd Annual Military Ball Set December 6 In Student Center

By Bill Thomas
The biggest dance on the Hill this semester, is just around the corner... the Military Ball.
The Military Ball, an annual affair sponsored by the ROTC unit at Western, is scheduled for Friday night, December 6, in the Paul L. Garrett Student Center. Work has already begun in preparation for this 24th annual event. This is the first year the Military Ball has been sponsored by the Army ROTC alone since 1946.

Prior to this year the Ball was realized through the joint efforts of both the Army and Air Force ROTC units at Western. However, last year the Air Force ROTC was discontinued on the Hill.
Crowning of Queen
Highlighting the Military Ball will be the crowning of the Military Ball Queen. This will be done at 10:30 p. m. or when the dance is approximately half over. Candidates for the Military Ball

Queen are selected through popular vote by members of the entire ROTC Corps. Eight candidates were selected by the corps and then these will be voted on Monday. Three top candidates will be chosen from these eight. A second vote will be taken on Monday at Corps Drill immediately prior to the Military Ball. The Military Ball Queen will be selected then, but will not be announced until the coronation ceremony.
Scheduled to be in the queen's court during her reign at the Ball will be the two runners-up, battalion sponsors, honorary cadet Lt. Col. Alice Chumbley and Gayle Young; Sandra Harrah, Pershing Rifle sponsor; and Sandra Smith, Scabbard and Blade sponsor.

Candidates Listed
The eight candidates selected for the Military Ball are Phyllis Robinson, Glenda Winn, Margie Vance, Alice Chumbley, Sandra Harrah, Gayle Young, Jo Ann Strange, and Marilyn Norris.
Music for the dance will be provided by the world-famed Hal McIntyre band. The group, which has just recently completed an extensive tour of Europe, is one of the top-name bands in the country. The band has been on the recording hit parade a number of times. When McIntyre's band was only a few months old, he recorded his first "wax" hit, "Commando Serenade". Another big hit for McIntyre's band was the widely juke box-played "Sentimental Journey." Since the early days of the band, it has been a favorite among college students across the entire country. McIntyre himself is a former member of the Glenn Miller band.

Vocalist for the band is Jeanne McManus. Also featured with the Student Advisory Council Composed Of 31 Members

The Student Advisory Council, which was organized in 1955 has recently named its new members for this year.
The membership of this council includes the presidents of the departments and college clubs, the presidents of the four class organizations, and the editors of the College Heights Herald and the Tallman.
Elected From Membership
The council, which is composed of thirty-one members, has elected from its membership an Executive Board to represent the council and the student body in meetings with the college president. This action was taken because it was felt that such a board, made up of twelve members, could work more effectively than could the entire council.
The establishment of this council does not lessen the importance of the thirty-one member council. The General Council will meet in regular sessions throughout the year.
Organized by President
The council was originally organized by President Thompson in order to advise him on matters pertaining to student trends and ideas.

Audio Devices Contest Award Presented Western

Audio Devices, Inc., of New York presented Western with $125 worth of audio-tapes Wednesday. The award was made by Richard H. Vaughan, company representative, in the office of President Kelly Thompson.
Western's entry in the $16,000 Audio Devices Educational Awards program won a fourth place award. The entry, prepared last spring by Jeanne Jones, James Bethel, and Marcia Williams, was one of several hundred in the contest.

Tapes Allocated
Miss Marjorie Clagett, of the foreign language department, supervised the preparation of the entry, with the help of Miss Sibyl Stonecipher. The departments using most audio material (English, music, and foreign language), according to a survey made in 1953 and the audio-visual committee, have been allocated the tapes.
Plans for an audio center, pictures of machines to be used, a list of costs, a recorded conversation of how the equipment would be used, and a script of the conversation were all included in the entry.
Judges Named
Judges for the contest were James F. MacAndrew, Director of Broadcasting, Board of Education, New York City; Dr. Ronald R. Lowdermilk, Consultant on Instructional Methods and Facilities, Alexandria Va.; and John Henderson, Educational Supervi-

NEW RESIDENCE HALL FOR WOMEN ... Shown is an artist's drawing of the new residence hall for women which will be built on the Western campus next year. This new building will be located between McLean Hall and 16th Street facing the Russellville Road. It will house 190 women. The new residence hall will be one of the most modern to be found in the South. It will cost approximately $600,000. The building was designed by the architectural firm of Roberts and Johnson, Owensboro. Frank Cain, Bowling Green architect, served as associate. The building has been so designed that the architecture will conform with McLean Hall, the President's home, the Kentucky Building, and the Maintenance Service Building, now under construction, campus buildings which face the Russellville Road. Final application for funds to finance construction has been submitted to the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency. College officials hope that construction can start next spring. The first floor of the wing of the building which will face 16th Street will contain four apartments. Dr. Kelly Thompson, president of Western, said that these apartments will be available for new faculty members until permanent residences are located. This new residence hall for women will be the first built on the Western campus since McLean Hall was occupied in September, 1948. Last year two new residence halls for men were completed and occupied at the opening of the second semester in February. The new residence hall will be built on part of the property along the Russellville Road recently acquired by the college.

Western's coach and Mrs. Ed Diddle became grandparents yesterday afternoon.
Mrs. James Phillips, the former Mary Jo Diddle, gave birth to a 7½-pound daughter at Prestwick, Scotland. The new father is a lieutenant in U. S. Air Force.
The Diddles were informed of the blessed event within minutes after the birth.
"We've got a little cheerleader," said Coach Diddle in announcing the event.
The granddaughter has been named Margaret Louise.
Both parents are graduates of Western.

Salute To ROTC

By Joyce Mount

MILITARY BALL! How many times have you heard these two words lately? Well, the time is rapidly approaching for one of the greatest social events of the school year on the Hill. The ROTC department has been making plans since the beginning of school for this, the 1967 Military Ball, to be the best one ever held.

Hal McIntyre and his orchestra, just back from a tour of Europe, has been contracted for this occasion. Vocalist Jeannie McManus, the McIntyres, and a Dixieland band are the special features of the orchestra. This should add up to a pleasant evening's entertainment.

The ROTC department is to be commended for the fine work it is doing on the Ball, along with the other events to which it contributes. This issue of the College Heights Herald salutes the Military Department, both staff members and cadets.

There is a distinctive air about seeing a cadet in uniform on the campus. He always looks proud—proud to be a part of two undeniably important organizations: Western Kentucky State College and the ROTC Department of this college. And we, as students of the college, should be proud to have them here. The cadet lends integrity to the atmosphere of the campus.

Girls Have Heyday As SHD Race, Dance Near

John E. Schneider

Remember all those miles Daley Mac chased. L.A. Abner across the pages of the funnies before she finally caught him? Today and tomorrow, girls, you get to chase the men of your choice openly without the use of those subtle tactics you usually employ.

The occasion is of course the Sadie Hawkins Day Dance to be held in the Garrett Student Center tomorrow night. Open season on the men began last week, and we hope that by now all you girls have that "big man"; if not, let's hustle. Marrying Sam will present each couple with a license for unholy and unfaithful wedlock.

There will be a Sadie Hawkins Day race at the football game tomorrow and all those that would like to enter should contact Joe Mitchell. Men, this is most desirable for you also in that the girls will pay the expenses as well as doing the asking. The dance is from 8 until 12, and kick-a-poo joy juice will be sold on the grounds. Prizes will be offered for the best costumes. You should costume as any dogpatch character.

If anyone sees the roof of the Student Center jumping up and down, it will be because the "House Rockers" have the place popping beyond capacity. We don't want any of you "suitcases" going home this weekend because we want to show the Murray Students what a good time really is. Let's make this Sadie Hawkins day the best ever, Ya'll Come. . . .

EDITOR'S NOTE — The following column appeared in the Monday, November 11, 1967, issue of THE HARDIN COUNTY ENTERPRISE in Elizabethtown, Kentucky. Nell Edmondson, the author, is a Western graduate and teaches in the Elizabethtown school system. She attends graduate classes at Western each Saturday. It was felt that such an inspiring article written about Western's highly successful 1967 Homecoming celebration should be passed to the readers of the HERALD. Thanks, Nell, for letting us use your column.

By NELL EDMONDSON

The sun shone frostily Saturday morning as many pilgrims wended their way up Bowling Green's acropolis, which is College Heights, on the way to VanMeier Hall, to Western Kentucky State College's 26th annual Homecoming. Inside, all was warmth and cheer, and handclapping, back-slapping and hugging was the order of the day for many minutes before Western's band began its music announcing the chapel program. As the red velvet curtains were drawn, the assembled group arose to honor those upon the stage: Bob Cochran, President Kelly Thompson, Dean Kinley Grise, Mr. Dero Downing Head Coach Nick Denes and the band.

The invocation was given by Dean Grise and this was followed by a welcome by Mr. Downing, director of Western's Training School. The response was given by Mr. Robertson, who had just been elected president of the ALUMNI, for the next year. Coach Denes was called on for remarks, and he told of the team, of which Western is rightfully proud. He stated that some of his upper classmen were unable to play that day because of injuries, (it sounded as if they might have to witness the game from wheel chairs and stretchers) but that his freshmen were to be depended upon mightily, and that he felt sure that they would win the Homecoming game. His faith was justified, as was proven by the score 28 to 6, when Western defeated Morehead, later on in the day.

Looking out over his audience, President Thompson saw three persons whom he invited to come to the platform and sit. They were Mrs. Paul Garrett, widow of Western's late president; Henry Hardin Cherry Jr., son of Western's Dr. Cherry, and his own charming wife, Mrs. Kelly Thompson.

The Homecoming Queen was elected, and from the three contestants, it was hard to choose. Three lovelier girls you can't imagine! Miss Phyllis Robinson, of Hazard, was selected. The parade was colorful and clever, the day fine, victory won, and every one was happy. Truly, the spirit makes the master.

Some day, I'm going to walk into President Thompson's office and say, "Homecoming is wonderful, but for the sake of us early settlers, have Western's Band play Prof. Strahm's 'Normal March', open up the old cedar log library for inspection, and let's not have school any more on that day". . . Well, I can DREAM, can't I?

But before I leave the subject of Western, I must give you one more item. Religious Emphasis week closed there Friday, Nov. 4. Dr. William Benfield, of the Highland Presbyterian Church in Louisville had been the principal speaker, and he stated that the Western campus contained more religious interest than many church school campuses that he had visited. And that should make you parents of Western's students feel mighty fine!

Book Marks

By Robert Waters

A good periodical department is an integral service of any library. The Periodical Room of the Library is stocked with magazines, periodicals which are necessary to complement material found in books. Mrs. Blake Clark, periodical librarian, is an authority in the field of periodical publications, and is always willing to co-operate with any student in search of reference material or recreational reading.

Like any other library service, the periodical department is constantly in search of new magazines and material to add to its collection. Mrs. Clark recently announced the addition of several new publications in which students have already indicated their interest.

Four new titles which are sent directly to the departments concerned are the Magazine of Prefabrication, Home Modernizing Guide, and New Homes Guide which are sent to the Home Economics department and the Bulletin of the National Association of Teachers of Singing, which goes to the Music department.

A new magazine that the Education department has expressed tremendous interest in, is the Journal of Developmental Reading which treats the subject from the secondary school and college level. The current issue of this magazine is volume one, number one. The first publication, Victorian Studies, is also available. This valuable magazine concentrates on the English culture of the great Victorian Age.

For the Art Department, the library announces the addition of the Journal of Art Education and the Art Education Bulletin. In addition to those already mentioned, the Library has the Journal of the American Dietetic Association for home economics students.

Two very attractive magazines to which the Library has recently subscribed, are Dance magazine and Realities. The former treats such subjects as music and the dance, dance artists, ballroom dancing, etc. Realities is a French magazine published in Paris. It deals with art, communications, industry, and the like.

Music Notes

Concert band held its first rehearsal last night in the music building. The band will play several concerts this year and in the spring of next year. Anyone who plays an instrument, and is interested in becoming a member of the concert band may contact Edward Knob for an audition.

The music department is making plans to provide music therapy for the Western Kentucky State Mental Hospital in Hopkinsville. Students and faculty members will travel to the hospital and present programs to help with the rehabilitation of the patients.

HILLTOPICS

By BETTY SPRADLYN

The first formal dance of the year — Hal McIntyre and his orchestra — a queen to be crowned in an impressive coronation, military style — the Military Ball! These thoughts have been expressed by many of our students on the Hill lately concerning the fall semester's major event, sponsored by the ROTC department of Western. Tickets will go on sale Monday, and from all reports only a limited number will be sold. It promises to be an exciting evening, so try not to miss it, you'll have a great time.

Some of you who keep up with the news around the campus and are well-informed about most of the activities that go on around you, would be surprised at the number of students on the Hill that are ignorant of some of the things that we are most proud. In order to acquaint these persons so that they might understand the function of various departments on the Hill, the Herald at times has featured the history and functions of organizations, groups, buildings, and the campus itself. Since this issue is the 1st before the Military Ball, it seemed most timely to feature on the Hill's largest and most active organizations. This issue is a salute to the Military department, featuring the history and a rundown of its present functions. Pages 3, 4 and 5 have been set aside especially for this outstanding group, that surprisingly enough boasts a large percentage of our student body in its membership.

Western Concert Band will hold its first rehearsal of the season Monday 25 at 4 o'clock in the band room of the music hall. Anyone who wishes to become a member of the band may contact Edward Knob in room 309 at the Music Building. There are openings on every instrument.

"Thurs mah date"! This will be the good word put forth by the female half of our campus when tomorrow brings Sadie Hawkins day to the Western Hilltop. As you well know, any gal who "ketches" her man and gets him to the "Sadie Hawkins dance" at the Garrett Student Center by 8 o'clock tomorrow night, will be met and "hitched" until midnight by none other than "Marryin' Sam." Everyone will be coming dressed as his favorite character in the "Lil' Abner" comic strip to add to the fun. Gals, let me give you a tip, you do not want to miss this opportunity, for at what other time do you have the chance to ask that boy you're had your eye on all semester for a date? It's all on the level too, so you would really be missing the boat if you let it pass you by. To add to the fun, music will be provided by one of the most popular musical groups in this area, the "House-Rockers". It all adds up to a grand time for those who enjoy letting their hair down once in a while, so, don't be a "square" — be there!

Manners are usually remembered quite well on the Hill, however Wednesday's chapel program revealed something less than perfection. As two of Western's faculty members were performing, a bell rang. To mis-quote Shakespeare, the bell was "full of sound and fury, signifying nothing." Some few people, not knowing that, immediately (in the middle of the number) left the auditorium. Not very quietly, either. Need we say more?

A general exodus from the campus will start the Thanksgiving holiday Wednesday afternoon. All those slim young things will return the following Monday to begin a strict regime of salads, dry toast, and tea to prepare for the Christmas holiday which will follow shortly. As suitcases are packed and turkey feathers fly, we remind you that Hilltoppers aren't the only ones using the highways this weekend. Let's keep the death toll limited to turkeys.

Military Training Started Here In 1918

Military training began at Western August 22, 1918. It was then established as the Student Army Training Corps. A Junior ROTC unit was authorized by the War Department on January 28, 1918. A Senior ROTC unit was established in September, 1935. ROTC officially came into being in 1916. Western's unit was organized just two years after the War Department issued orders for the establishment of ROTC units in American colleges. As of the present date, Senior Division ROTC exists in 253 institutions of higher learning located in all of the forty-eight states. The current enrollment in ROTC units is more than 140,000. Presently there are 259 students enrolled in the basic and advanced courses of the Army ROTC at Western.

First PMST

The first professor of Military Science and Tactics of the Junior unit in 1918, was 1st Lt. Owen Ellsworth. The present PMST of the Army unit is Lt. Col. A. Earl Calhoun.

In 1936, Company "B" 3rd Regiment Pershing Rifles was established. In 1954, the George Sibbald Chapter of the Scabbard and Blade was organized. The Infantry Branch and Course was changed to the General Military Science curriculum in September 1954.

Trophies Awarded

In 1929 and '30, the Western ROTC rifle team won the William Randolph Hearst trophy. This trophy is awarded to the outstanding rifle team in the United States. For four years, 1928 and 1931 through 1933, the rifle team also won the William Randolph Hearst trophy, Southern Championship. This trophy is awarded similarly to the previous, but in the southern division.

Another Western national accomplishment is the winning of the National Intercollegiate Rifle Team trophy match in the years 1928 through 1930.

Win First Place

The latest note of national recognition was the Illinois Invitational Drill Meet in 1953, in which the drill platoon of Pershing Rifles won first place. This award was won over numerous other schools from all sections of the United States. Also credited to this organization are many trophies won in platoon and "crack" drill competitions at invitational and national drill meets.

Army ROTC has had a successful history here at Western. Many officers who have served in the

Senior Cadets Discuss ROTC

By Jim Owens

When any male enters college he is usually very concerned as to whether he should join ROTC. If he is an informed freshman, he probably knows that he will have to give a certain period of time to "Uncle Sam" regardless of his status. Furthermore, if he possesses any power of logic, he can arrive at but one conclusion—since he is going to be in the Army anyway, why shouldn't he enroll in ROTC and serve as a second lieutenant instead of a private. Everyone, including this enlightened freshman, knows that a lieutenant has many officer's privileges which are denied privates, receives much more pay, and usually gives, instead of receives orders. Thus, the freshman who Distinguished military students are designated at the end of their junior year, final selection taking place in the fall of their senior year.

The long process of elimination and final selection begins in the freshman year of the cadet's ROTC training. While on campus each cadet is rated by the professor of military science and tactics and the class instructors. At summer camp the company commander, platoon leader, and platoon sergeant also rate each military student.

Scholastically, the distinguished military student must be in the top ten per cent of his ROTC class and in the top fifty per cent of his college class. Other qualifications include outstanding leadership ability, military bearing, aptitude for the service, general knowledge of military training and good conduct.

Cadets Attend Summer Camp

Thirty-one ROTC Cadets from Western entered Fort Campbell for their six weeks of summer training June 20, along with 1200 cadets representing 27 different colleges from Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee.

The different phases of training were started immediately—such as firing on the rifle range, map reading courses, leadership drills under various kinds of situations with which a future officer may have to contend, and either actually working in or watching demonstrations with our nation's most powerful weapons.

Western cadets participated in the various camp sports such as softball, volleyball and golf.

One of the events of special interest for Western cadets was the visit by Dean Keown, as a representative of Western.

Western's Professor of Military Science and Tactics, Lt. Col. Alford E. Calhoun, served as regimental S-3, in charge of the training program for the entire camp. Other ROTC instructors from Western who attended camp and served with various evaluation and staff organizations were SFC Lester W. Russie, SFC Chester C. Mercer, and M-Sgt. Gayle Shields.

Responsibilities Of Cadet After His Graduation

The ROTC student, before entering his junior year, signs an agreement with the U. S. Government that he will complete the next two years of ROTC and will serve on active duty a predetermined time and remain on reserve for the remainder of his tour of duty. After he graduates he will receive orders calling him to either a six months, two years or three years, active tour of duty and assigning him to a school which he has already chosen.

As soon as he reports he is given a clothing allowance with which he buys his new uniform. In his respective school he is indoctrinated in the field in which he is to be a leader.

After this school he will be re-assigned to a unit in which he will be a responsible officer until his tour of active duty is terminated and he returns to civilian life.

Those who were not distinguished military graduates and find a military career attractive may apply for an extension of active duty and if there is a vacancy and the young officer shows adeptness he may receive an extension. He will then be on an indefinite enlistment until such time as he desires to retire or the service no longer has a need for him.

However, a distinguished military graduate may apply for a Regular Army commission for a three year tour of active duty, or thereafter, apply if he desires for other tours of duty.

Sponsors Selected By Cadets

ROTC sponsors, who hold the rank of honorary cadet lieutenant colonel, are given the same courtesies as the Senior officers in the unit. The sponsors must be on the field at drill, appear in ROTC parades, serve as a member of the battalion staff, and be in the receiving line at the Military Ball.

Nominated By Corps

Candidates for sponsor are nominated by the corps at large. Cadet officers count the votes, the girls receiving the highest number of votes being the nominees. At drill, with all the nominees present, the Cadets vote by secret ballot. Four girls are selected, and using the same procedure of voting, the two receiving the highest number of votes are elected sponsors.

Gayle Young, sophomore from Glasgow, and Alice Chumbley, freshman from Jamestown, have received the honor for the year 1957-58.

Preceding Sponsors

A sponsor has been chosen by the ROTC unit since 1936 with the exception of the years 1943-45, the World War II years. The sponsors have been Mary Katherine Sledge, Irene Groves, Ann Lech, Mary Ella Riddle, Almeda Haynes, Deslie Barlow, Martha Bates, Marie Powell, Warren Cannon, Nina Koenen, Dottie Nuckolls, Laura Stuart, Martha Utterback, and Shirley Smith.

With the growth of the unit, since 1954, two sponsors have been chosen each year. They are: Du-raine Bally and Jane Winchester; Emmalene Jones and Faye Brawner; and Phyllis Robinson and Jody Spradlyn.

Army of the United States have been graduates of Western. It is surprising to know that more than one half of the commissioned officers on active duty today received their commissions through institutions similar to Western. This unit has been functioning for thirty-nine years, and from all indications, the corps of cadets is getting larger and more important every year.

Scabbard And Blade Had Start At Western In '54

Scabbard and Blade is a national military honor society with local chapters, called companies, located in 131 leading colleges and universities which have Reserve Officer Training Programs.

The founding of Scabbard and Blade was the result of a feeling on the part of a number of college men that such a military society was necessary to develop and foster the ideals and practice of military education in the United States and particularly in the various colleges and universities in which military science and tactics was a part of the curriculum.

Organized In 1904

To satisfy this need, five of the field officers in the University of Wisconsin regiment organized in 1904-05 what is now known as 'A Company, First Regiment.

These founders were: Leron M. Cook; Albert W. Foster, Victor R. Griggs, Charles A. Taylor, and Harold K. Weld.

An enthusiastic campaign for new companies was immediately begun, and in December of 1905 a charter was issued to 'B company, First Regiment, at the University of Minnesota.

Membership By Election

Membership is by election only and is divided into four classifications, active, alumni, associate and honorary.

The growth of the Society has been steady in the total number of members and companies. At present the approximate membership is 73,000.

The Scabbard and Blade unit at Western was granted its charter in 1954. Western is Company 'C, Eleventh Regiment.

Chartered Members

Scabbard and Blade first came into existence at Western on January 16, 1954. The club was awarded a charter which makes it officially one of the 13 chartered members of the national Society of Scabbard and Blade. In 1954 the club was captained by W. D. Ginger; in 1955, by John Sagabiel; in 1956, by Glen W. Williams, in 1957 by Lloyd D. Young, and the present commander for the academic year is William C. Shirley.

As to date, there is a total number of 97 selected members at Western extending over the period of 4 years. This is close to an average of 16 members per year. The reason there is such a small enrollment in the club is that it is a select group and there are certain academic and leadership qualities that must be met by the National Headquarters before one can become a member.

Purpose And Activities

The main purpose of Scabbard and Blade here at Western is to raise the standards of military education in American Colleges and

Special Cadet Functions Play Important Role

The special cadet functions play an important part in ROTC. One of these functions is the Scabbard and Blade Saber Team which takes part in the Military Ball, homecoming, and any other military function which necessitates sabers in the procedure. Members of the Saber Team are as follows: Allan Hillsmeier, Hardin Thompson, Philip Shroyer, Don Merchant, John Riker, and Wendell Smith.

Another function is the Pershing Rifles Drill Team, but due to the limited membership of the organization at the present time, it will be necessary to wait until after the pledge class becomes active to organize the drill team. Plans have been made for a enrolls in ROTC has made one of the most important steps in his college career, definitely a step in the right direction.

Three years and two months ago, for these reasons and others, too, several new male citizens of "the Hilltop" became ROTC cadets. In June, most of these gentlemen will be officers in the United States Army. Considering the years in ROTC at Western and their future in the service, are these cadets glad they enrolled in ROTC? Why?

Seniors Give Quotes

No one can answer these questions with more authority than the ROTC seniors. The following are some of their quotations:

"ROTC offers a person one of the best means in college to develop his leadership ability," replied Bobby Thomas, Battalion Commander.

"I plan to make the Army my career. In what other field could I make as much money and retire at age fifty with a four-hundred dollar per month income?" Answered Ray Weaver, first-string center on the Western football team.

"Among other things, the ninety cents per day as an advanced cadet (nearly $700, or basic college expenses, for one year) I received was a big help in financing college," added Paul Knoop, executive officer of Pershing Rifles.

An Education In Itself

"ROTC is an education in itself. We have studied subjects such as map reading, leadership, military history, organization and communications, military law, etc. Knowledge in these fields will be a valuable asset to me in many walks of life. I'll never forget the ROTC instructors' "war stories" and thrilling experiences which tend to be in themselves an orientation to army life," said Owen Lawson, guard for the Hilltopper basketball team.

Extra-Curricular Activities

"The rifle team and intramural basketball league are 'tops' in the extra-curricular activity field," Joe Schureck, senior from Louisville, was quoted as saying.

"Through ROTC I have received practical experience in newspaper leadership," asserted Bill Thomas, editor-in-chief of the ROTC Summer Camp Journal and the Cadet Banner fourteen man "crack" drill squad and a twenty-eight man drill platoon. They participate in half time ceremonies, military reviews, and competition with other schools.

The "crack" drill squad does drill and movements originated by the squad itself.

Other special cadet functions are the Pershing Rifles Color Guard and the Battalion Color Guard.

The Pershing Rifles Color Guard is responsible for the colors at the basketball and football games. The members of this color guard are: Kenneth Hightower, Douglas Cross, Edward Copus, Ronald Sheffer, and alternate, Hector Melendez.

The Battalion Color Guard is responsible for the colors at the battalion parades. The members of this color guard are: Billy K. Jones, Tony Spugnardi, Robert Richie, and Fred Fish.

ers. He has been in the Army 17½ years.

M/Sgt. Lester W. Russic, supply sergeant, hails from Plandreau, South Dakota. Prior to coming to Western in March 1955, he served at Fort Knox. M/Sgt. Robert R. Riley, assigned to Western as freshmen instructor in August 1957, is from New Jersey. He has served with the Army 16½ years. His decorations include the American Defense Ribbon, Victory Medal, Occupation Ribbon, and Purple Heart.

Sgt. John P. Jenkins is to join the staff soon as supply sergeant. Mrs. Elizabeth McMullen began her duties as secretary for the ROTC department in September. Before coming to Western she worked in Louisville.

Miss Burden To Entertain Club

Miss Mary Lee Burden, a freshman from Beaver Dam will entertain the Ohio County club at the Student Center on November 26, 7 p. m.

Plans for a Christmas program will be discussed and it is urgent for all members to be present for this meeting.

PR's Add Color To Hilltop

The Pershing Rifles is a National Military Society founded in 1894 by Lt. (later General of the Armies) John J. Pershing at the University of Nebraska.

Pershing Rifles, Company B-3 third Regiment, came into existence at Western 1936. Membership has increased through the years until now it boasts a unit of 38.

The purpose of the Pershing Rifles is to encourage, preserve and develop the highest idea of the military profession; to promote American citizenship; to create a closer and more efficient relationship between the military department and the cadets; and to provide appropriate recognition of a high degree of military ability among the cadets of the several senior ROTC units of the United States.

Primary activities of the Pershing Rifles are to perform as an expert drill team at ceremonies and in competition with other schools, to participate in extra curricular military studies and exercises, support various college functions, and to sponsor social activities such as informal parties, picnics, and the Military Ball.

The staff is composed of Capt. Glen Gilliam, company commander; 1st Lt. Paul Knoop, executive officer; 2nd Lt. Ronnie Jones secretary-treasurer; Lt. Raymond Weber, training; and Warrant Officer Don Merchant, public information officer.

Sandy Harrah, a freshman from Bowling Green, is this year's sponsor. Miss Harrah was elected earlier in the year by members of the Pershing Rifles.

Jane Lovell, last year's sponsor, was elected regimental sponsor of the third regiment in May, 1956, and served for one year.

Lovell held the rank of cadet colonel and presided over the meeting held at the University of Illinois in Champaign. The third regiment includes the states of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Western Kentucky; all of which consists of over 15,000 men.

Hal McIntyre

Students Play With Famed Band

Featured at the Military Ball on December 6, will be the Hal McIntyre orchestra, which has just recently returned from a tour of Europe. Had the dance been scheduled for last summer, Western students would have found two familiar faces in the McIntyre band.

Ronnie Champion and Mike Longo, both from Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., traveled with the outfit this past summer. While on the road they played shows with such notables from the entertainment world as Guy Mitchell, Johnny Ray, The McGuire Sisters, the Diamonds, and Howard Keel. It was not Cinderella-like chance, however, that won the boys chairs in the band. Both have had previous professional experience in Florida with Cannonball Adderly and other combos and around Bowling Green and Nashville.

After a short tour with McIntyre, Ronnie finished the summer as lead trumpet on Charlie Spivak's band.

Mike, who plays piano with the Red and White dance band at Western, also writes arrangements for the band and a vocal group. A junior music major, he has studied music for 17 years and is in the orchestra, marching band, concert band, and chorus.

Also majoring in music, Ronnie, who has studied trumpet for 12 years, is the lead trumpet with the Red and White dance band, plays with the concert band and orchestra, and sings in the chorus. Last spring he was featured in the Haydan Trumpet Concerto with the orchestra on the annual concerto program in which outstanding music students are selected to participate. Before coming to Western he studied in the Navy School of Music.

Both boys intend to have careers in the field of jazz music. While on the road this summer they were offered jobs with Ralph Mariani, and there is a possibility that next summer will find them with the Les Brown group. Don Jacoby, a brass specialist and studio musician who was here for a band clinic last year, is interested in the boys and predicts bright futures for both.

Speech And Drama Clinic November 23

Western plays host to its third annual Speech and Drama Clinic to be held in the Little Theatre of the Library Building, Tuesday. Registration for high school teachers, students, and visitors for the clinic, will take place between 8:30 and 2:00 a. m. Russell H. Miller, director of Speech and Dramatic activities at Western, will be in charge of the program for the occasion. This program is related to the series of speech and drama festivals held in this region in the spring for which Dean Charles Keown is manager.

From U of K

From the University of Kentucky, Dr. Gifford Blyton, Mr. Wallace Briggs, and Miss Chloe Gifford will join the members of the Western faculty for the clinic meeting. Dr. Blyton will discuss debate, Mr. Briggs high school dramatics, and Miss Gifford the stage festival program.

The demonstrations for the occasion are being provided by speech and drama teachers in the high schools of this region. The debate will be presented by students of Mrs. Frances Dixon of College High and Mr. Bill Price of Glasgow High. Students of Mrs. J. G. Webb of Bowling Green High, Mrs. Dixon, and Mr. Price will present the demonstration discussion.

One-Act Play

From Daviess County High School, the students of Mrs. J. M. Bowman will present the one-act play. Other events in oral interpretation and speech will be presented by the students of Mrs. Webb, Mrs. Dixon, Miss Lucille Scott of North Warren High, Mrs. John Carpenter of Russellville High, Mrs. Wilbur Smith of Caverna High.

An opportunity will be given high school teachers of this region to discuss methods and standards of evaluation in the regional and state festivals for speech to send representatives to the Western clinic next Tuesday.

Local AAUW Heard Egbert Last Night

Miss Ercell Egbert, history professor at Western, spoke on the participating nations in IGY at the meeting of the Bowling Green chapter of the A.A.U.W. last night.

IGY, the International Geophysical Year, is the topic of study for the group this year. It is a period of time beginning July 1, 1957 and lasting a year and a half. Scientists all over the world are participating by making simultaneous observations of earth and astronomical phenomena for better understanding of man's surroundings.

AWARD PRESENTATION — Marjorie Williams, senior at Western Kentucky State College, accepts on behalf of the college a $125 award in recognition of winning fourth place in a nationwide contest conducted by Audio Devices Inc., New York, last year. The award is presented by Richard H. Vaughan, representative of Audio Devices. The presentation took place yesterday afternoon in the office of Dr. Kelly Thompson,

ROTC Cadets Vie For Rifle Team Positions

Members of the Western ROTC are now trying out for positions on the varsity rifle team. Approximately 20 cadets are now trying for positions. Any ROTC student is eligible to try out. There are 7 members back from last year's team. Those making the team will be assigned regular practice periods.

Several matches will be held throughout the year. Approximately 14 postal matches are scheduled. Shoulder to shoulder matches have been scheduled against Murray and the University of Louisville. Two other probable opponents are Eastern and the University of Kentucky. The Western team will also take part in the Randolph Hurst meet held in December.

Bill Thomas Edits ROTC Cadet Banner

Something new has been added to the R. O. T. C. department and to the Western hilltop. A newspaper known as the Cadet Banner with Bill Thomas as editor, is the first Army R.O.T.C. bulletin ever created on the campus.

It was started with the hope that the newspaper will help to elevate the spirit within the corps and make the individual cadet feel instrumental as a part in the corps.

Assisting Thomas with the paper are Larry Hamby, assistant editor; and reporters Hardin Thompson, Eddie Houston, and Ronnie Jones.

Tournaments Highlight Activities Of Debate Team

Ed Render, Western Senior from Beaver Dam, Kentucky, was elected Captain of the Western Inter-Collegiate Debate Team for 1957-58. The election was held at the regular meeting of the Western Debate Associates last week. Other officers chosen for the current debate year are Lerond Curry, Bowling Green, co-captain; Linda Gass, Marion, recorder; and Mary Ruth Grise, Bowling Green, public relations representative. The Western Debate Associates are at present busily preparing for the All-Kentucky Debate Tournament to be held at Bellarmine College in Louisville on December 7.

Debaters Here

The latest major activity of this group was the third annual Western Kentucky Debate tournament staged on Western Campus on Saturday, November 16. The tourney has more than doubled in size in the time it has been in operation. Thirteen colleges from three states participated in the meet this year—from Indiana, University of Indiana and Evansville College; from Tennessee, Tennessee Tech, Middle Tennessee, David Lipscomb, Vanderbilt University, and Belmont College; and from Kentucky, Asbury College, Bellarmine College, Kentucky Wesleyan, Murray, University of Kentucky and Western.

Two Divisions

This year two divisions of debates were staged simultaneously, a medalist flight of twelve schools in Division A, and eight schools in a novice group that had never participated in inter-collegiate debate in Division B. Western was represented in Division A by Lerond Curry and Mary Ruth Grise on the affirmative team and Ed Render and Gregg O'Neill on the negative. In Division B, Terry Kelsay and Penny Hardy represented the affirmative and Bill Francis and Leon Remington the negative for the home team.

Winners Announced

David Lipscomb College of Nashville won five debates while losing only one decision to annex the winner's trophy. In this hotly contested competition, the University of Kentucky also scored five wins against a lone setback, but Lipscomb was declared the champion on the basis of team points.

Tied for Runner-Up

Western tied with Bellarmine College and Indiana University for the runner-up position in the meet. Each of the three won four decisions while losing two. Larry Connolly of Lipscomb was named the outstanding individual speaker of the tourney and was awarded a cup symbolic of the honor. Medals went to Danny Crews, Lipscomb, Gannell McClure, and Faye Derryberry, both of Tennessee Tech, all declared top debaters. In the novice division, Vanderbilt University took top honors with five wins and a single loss.

Russell H. Miller, Director of Forensics at Western, acted as tournament manager. Mary Helen Jenkins served as chief tabulator for the meet. She was assisted by Jorene Neikirk, Marjorie Hanna, and Carolyn Pearson. Bob May and Glenn McDonald were chief time keepers.

The coaches and expert economists serving as judges were guests of the college for luncheon. The visiting debaters were the guests of Western Debate Association for a coffee after the debates.

McChesney Speaks To Spanish Club

"Spanish, the Language of Love" was the subject for discussion by Prof. H. F. McChesney at the regular meeting of "El Club Español" last night. The meeting was held in the Faculty room of the Garrett Student Center.

Following Professor McChesney's speech, several members presented biographical sketches of famous Spanish personalities.

During the business session, plans were made for a Christmas party. Pat Stiff reported on the club's constitution and by-laws, and the program committee was introduced, its functions being explained by Larry Fowler.

Bill Pemberton, club president, acted as host at a social gathering for old and new members and visitors following the business session.

Refreshments were served and Spanish songs were played for entertainment.

Cecil Frey Elected President Of New Commercial Club

A meeting for the Commerical Education majors was recently held in Van Meter Auditorium, for the purpose of forming an organization for the commerce students at Western.

At this meeting the following officers were elected: James Cecil Frey, senior from Henderson, president; Richard Bell, senior from La Grange, Indiana, vice-president; and Laska Lisman junior from Princeton, secretary-treasurer.

This will be one of the largest organizations on the Hill with approximately ninety members.

"The Wilsons were among the nicest patrons I ever served." This was the statement made by J. P. Brown, retired L. & N. agent in Bowling Green. The author of the article, Edson H. Thomas, relates the experiences which Mr. and Mrs. Wilson have encountered during their travels for the past nine years. They have journeyed almost 25,000 miles by rail, visiting all but five states.

Mr. Thomas gives a biographical sketch of Ivan Wilson and includes the marvelous work he has done with his water colors on over 2000 separate scenes, mostly landscapes.

Twenty-four of Mr. Wilson's paintings are now on display in the Kentucky Building and are changed periodically for the benefit of Western students and visitors to the Museum.

"Arms And The Man". Set For Production Dec. 11, 12

Walt Langsford

Pat Hooper

Bernard Shaw's "Arms and The Man" has been chosen by the Western Players for their next major production, to be presented in the Van Meter Auditorium on the evenings of December 11 and 12. Shaw calls his brilliant satire on the romance of war and love a pleasant play. A part of its pleasure to the author was due to the fact that it was just a little shocking to the romantic Victorians that he satirizes and another part was the tremendous success and popularity that it enjoyed in his day and since, for it has been one of his most produced works for the theatre. It was the first of his plays to be given a musical treatment wherein it emerged as the very popular "Chocolate Soldier." The second of his plays to get this treatment was "Pygmalion" that emerged as the current smash hit, "My Fair Lady."

Senior Talent

Into his cast for "Arms and The Man," Director Russell H. Miller has taken much of his senior talent. Jane Lovell, Western senior from Morgnfield, plays the Young Bulgarian lady torn between a "higher love" romance with her military hero and a natural attraction to a fugitive Swiss mercenary running away from the battle that made her other lover a "hero." Pat Hooper, also Western senior from Morganfield, is the wife of the Bulgarian mountaineer, determined to be a Viennese lady if it kills her. Barbara Harner of Waynesboro, Virginia, plays the proud and handsome peasant girl in the Petkoff ménage.

Bradley Shaw, Western senior from Indianapolis, Indiana, is the cheerful, unpolished Major in the Bulgarian Army. He wears his military rank as uncomfortably as the tightfitting uniform. Don Michael, of Kanapolis, N. C. plays the young Bulgarian militarist, an imaginative barbarian, representing Shaw's concept of Byronism with all the romantic fascination of Childe Harold for the grandmothers of our English contemporaries. He is, of course, our

'Toppers To End Grid Season Against Murray At Home Tomorrow

Western Goes Into Game With 5 Win 3 Loss Record

Arch-rival Murray State comes to Bowling Green tomorrow to help close a season, not particularly spectacular to either team, but certainly a season with thrills for both.

Murray, whose record now stands at 3-5, started the season with high hopes of being a title contender. However, with injuries, players being declared ineligible, and others being drafted into service, the Breds have enjoyed only a mediocre season. Last week the boys from Murray downed Evansville 33-21.

The Hilltoppers, who upset Whittenberg 28-13 last week, are definitely on the go. Under the leadership of Coach Denes, the 'Toppers so far have a 5-3 record, thus assuring them of a standing over .500. Help for most part has come from the running of Mickey Riggs, DeLane Simpson and Shifty Griffith.

This is the twenty-third meeting between the two schools. Murray has won eight, Western eleven, and four have ended in ties.

The rating systems, based on performances against all opposition, give Western less than a 2-point edge. Playing a schedule comparable in difficulty with Murray's, the Hilltoppers have won five of eight games. Murray has lost five of its eight.

Comparative Scores

The game takes another slant when viewed through performances against the four mutual foes. Murray has a 4-point edge off these comparative scores.

Both defeated Morehead. Western won by 22 points (28-6). Murray triumphed by 14 (21-7).

Both lost to Middle Tennessee, Eastern and Tennessee Tech.

Middle Tennessee whipped the Toppers by 19 points (26-7) and belted Murray by 22 (22-0).

Eastern walloped Western by 28 points (28-0), but managed only a 7-point win over Murray (26-19).

Tech flipped Western by 13 points (27-9) and took Murray by 12 points (26-14).

Murray's Defense

Off the games against Eastern and Tech, Murray is a total of 27 points stronger. Of showings against Morehead and Middle Tennessee, Western is 11 points better.

Murray's defense has been particularly susceptible to the home-run play. Western has showed a marked propensity for going all the way in its last two games. The Hilltoppers have struck from well out for seven of their last eight touchdowns.

Of the 24 touchdowns scored against Murray, 12 have come on plays covering more than 26 yards. Three of them have been from farther out than 55 yards.

The B. C. Dragons racked up 56 points to defeat the ROA-ders, who scored 37. The Pershing Rifles lost to the Baseballers, 34-64.

Western's fullback DeLane Simpson, No. 28, was almost away on a seven yard bolt up the middle before he was hauled down in the homecoming game with Morehead. Blocking at right are Billy Joe Holt, 27, and Bob Bradford, facing camera. Morehead's Tom Spradlin is making the tackle.

Western Topped Morehead 28-6 In Homecoming Attraction Here

Displaying a versatile offense featuring Mickey Riggs, Western provided a happy Homecoming for the "old grads" by defeating a highly regarded Morehead squad 28-6 in the annual Homecoming classic.

The senior halfback gave the fans possibly the greatest individual backfield performance in homecoming history, as he gained 148 yards in 11 carries and scored three touchdowns.

Riggs Scores

After stopping the Eagles on the 13 yard line, Western began to roll, as fullback DeLane Simpson got loose on a 41 yard punt that carried to the 20 yard line. Then the Toppers registered the scoreboard's first action as Riggs skirted right end on a pitch out from quarterback Carroll Vanhooser and scored from 12 yards out. End Jerry Brantley kicked the first of his four straight extra points.

In the second quarter, Riggs again ankled his way to another score when he broke through the center of the line and out-manuevered the secondary to reach paydirt that was 46 yards away. Thus the Hilltoppers carried a commanding 14-0 lead to the dressing room at halftime.

Fourth Quarter Action

After a scoreless third quarter Western's offense came to life early in the fourth quarter as Mickey scored his third touchdown by sweeping left end and raced unmolested over the goal line. The Toppers last touchdown came when diminutive Shifty Griffith fired a 22 yard touchdown strike to end Jerry Brantley who was standing all alone in the end zone.

With Western using their freshmen in the fourth quarter, Morehead was able to get a drive started and finally scored when freshman quarterback Buddy Bell passed to halfback Leroy Jackson in the end zone for their only touchdown.

4-3 Record

The Toppers hard-charging line of Holt, Bradford, Hardin, Patterson, and Curry again had a big hand in the victory as they held Morehead to only 85 yards rushing for the entire afternoon. Starting quarterback Tom Sims, ranked 17 in the nation in small colleges, was repeatedly thrown for huge loses. He ended the day with a minus 47 yards.

The victory gave the Toppers a 4-3 record with two games remaining. Morehead is still seeking their first OVC victory since Western started the skid in 1950.

'Tops In SPORTS

By LARRY B. HAMBY
Herald Sports Editor

Western closes its grid season tomorrow as the 'Toppers go against Murray with a five win, three loss record after a mid-season slump.

The 'Toppers were spectacular against Southeast Missouri, East Tennessee, and Youngstown and looked good stacked up against strong Middle Tennessee. After a slump while meeting Tennessee Tech and Eastern, the 'Toppers pounced all over Morehead and high scoring Wittenberg.

In the Homecoming game against Morehead, Mickey Riggs, 24-year-old senior, pushed 12, 45, and 15 yards for Western's three touchdowns in the Homecoming action. Riggs, a halfback with two battered legs, carried the ball 148 yards on eleven runs that Saturday, two weeks ago. Riggs only had a total of 40 yards for the season prior to the Morehead action.

At one time Mickey's now battered legs carried him to 26 touchdowns in six games with the Duke freshmen. Once in a high school game at Portsmouth, Va., his legs had yielded him seven touchdowns in just seven runs with the pig-skin.

Available records show that Rigg's total yardage against Morehead was a record 40 for a homecoming battle here. Only twice in 27 Homecoming battles has Western scored more touchdowns than Riggs made in three and a fraction quarters that day.

Others Leading the Way

Leading the way last Saturday was Western's candidate for Little All America, Jim (Yogi) Hardin. Ken Griffith also made a showing as he galloped 94 yards for a touchdown.

In the game Saturday against the high scoring and record breaking Whittenberg team, Hardin blocked a placement that would have tied the score at seven, all in the second period. After Whittenberg had taken a 13-7 lead in the third period, Hardin belted his way through the Whittenberg line to block a punt and set up a scoring play for the 'Toppers.

When listing the greats for the season one could not forget Jerry Brantley who added four conversions Saturday to run his string to 13 consecutive extra points.

Brantley leads 'Topper scoring after scoring touchdowns and a field goal in the first two games in addition to his conversions.

DeLane Simpson, also ranking high in the scoring column, carried the ball across in the Whittenberg game on a 36-yard go. Simpson stands with 18 points.

Dave Miller, sophomore from Corbin, is my pick as the 'Topper to watch.

Toppers Open Cage Season Dec. 7

By Jim Chambliss
Western's basketball team opens its schedule December 7 at Evansville College, which competed in the small-college division of the NCAA Tournament last year.

The 'Toppers will be led by four returning starters of last year's team which won 17 of 26 games. They will be combining elements of the only two freshman cage teams to average over a 100 points a game.

The four varsity starters returning are 6-6 center Ralph Crothwaite, who gets his points in and around the pivot slot. Ralph is very skilled in his rebounding which is a big factor in all games.

Billy Case is 6-3, and plays a forward position for the 'Toppers. Bill is especially accurate in shooting from the corner of the court.

The play-makers of the squad are 6 foot guards Owen Lawson and Edie Back. They are the boys who pass the ball around and set up the plays that make the opponents look as if they were resting. Both of these boys are a constant threat on defense to the opponents since they are constantly stealing the ball throughout the game.

Last year's freshman team, which won 13 of 16 games, will contribute the talents of 6-5 Darrel Hicknell, 6-4 Al Elison, 6-4 Jude Talbot and 5-11 Kenny Cornelius.

Each of these boys averaged 15 points a game with the frosh last season.

These are the men who will be leading the 'Toppers throughout their tough 25 game schedule this season. Let's get behind them and let them know our appreciation of the good basketball playing they will be doing.

Queen Reigns Over Homecoming Events

A QUEEN IS CROWNED — Miss Phyllis Robinson, a junior from Hazard, was crowned Western's 28th Homecoming Queen, November 2, by Morehead's president, Adron Doran, during the halftime ceremonies of the Western-Morehead game. Looking on are Miss Robinson's escort, Don Parson, and president Kelly Thompson. Miss Alice Chumbley and Miss Gayle Young were attendants to the queen.

By Charlie McMeah

From a field of ten candidates, Phyllis Robinson won the title of Western's 1957 Homecoming Queen. Miss Robinson, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Robinson, is a native of Hazard and a junior on the Hill. Escorted by Don Parson, she was crowned during the halftime coronation by Dr. Adron Doran, president of Morehead State College.

Western Wins 28-6

To give the Homecoming crowd of 4,500 some gay excitement Western's football team under the coaching of Nick Denes, handed Morehead Eagles a 28-6 defeat. During the game the winners of the parade were announced with South Hall first, Girls' dormitories second, and Arts and Crafts club third. The decorations for the dormitories were won by East Hall, first, with West Hall and Potter Hall tying for second.

After the game, one of the best Homecoming receptions of all times was held in the Paul L. Garrett Student Center. Many alumni, faculty, guests, and students welcomed the hot steaming coffee, the warmth of the Student Center, and a chance to talk of past and present experiences with old friends.

Homecoming Chapel

One of the warmest and most colorful Homecoming chapels was held in Van Meter Auditorium Saturday morning. With the newly elected president of the alumni, Lee Robertson as the principal speaker and the Western Band setting a brilliant background, the chapel program progressed with much spirit and enthusiasm. One of the main events of the chapel program, which was presided over by President Kelly Thompson, was the election of the Homecoming Queen.
